

January Guest Speaker Wendy Bull JP CMC

Well what a start to 2020. Our Guest Speaker will have you giggling as she shares a number of real stories - that's right her stories really happened - as a Civil Marriage Celebrant.

While most of the weddings she attended as celebrant were magnificent affairs of the heart, there were enough marriage events that had her either laughing or cringing in amazement.

Wendy Bull has seen it all. From the bride who showed up in red at her Greek wedding and NOT the traditional virginal white causing a furore from the groom through to attending a wedding with 100+ guests dressed in an array of T-shirts, jeans, and casual sun frocks, Wendy's stories are nothing less than memorable anecdotes of what she saw and was involved in.

She notes that at one spectacular wedding, the "bride in black was a nice change from white, creamy white, very creamy white, ivory, very ivory, light ivory, light champagne and champagne gown choices."

Some of her stories involve a bride pregnant with twins who goes into labour during the ceremony and the drunk best man who was fascinated by the gold fish being used as table centrepieces... he swallowed the lot.

As a celebrant, she was even asked over the 'phone if she was a pretty - the couple did not want an ugly celebrant marrying them. Then there was the bride who only discovered her groom was already married when Wendy, as celebrant, asked.

Wendy is a gifted writer, born story teller and highly entertaining public speaker. She had her own consulting business, being a keen business writer and presenter to industry. Wendy also taught at TAFE, WEA and private business colleges across Sydney.
